

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Introduction	viii
1 Clinical Pharmacology	1
1.1 General information	1
What is buprenorphine?	1
What form does it come in?	1
How is it metabolised?	2
Duration of action	2
1.2 Withdrawal syndrome following buprenorphine maintenance treatment	2
1.3 Safety and side effects	3
1.4 Drug interactions	4
1.5 Buprenorphine–naloxone combination product (Suboxone®)	5
2 Entry into buprenorphine treatment	7
2.1 Suitability for treatment with buprenorphine	7
2.1.1 Indications	7
2.1.2 Contraindications	8
2.1.3 Precautions	8
2.2 Assessment procedures	10
2.2.1 History	10
2.2.2 Examination	10
2.2.3 Investigations	11
2.3 Informed consent and patient literature	11
2.4 Permits and registration of patients	11
3 Guidelines for maintenance treatment	13
3.1 Gateway model of treatment with buprenorphine	13
3.2 Selecting maintenance pharmacotherapies	14
3.3 Induction onto buprenorphine treatment	16
3.3.1 Commencing buprenorphine from heroin use	16
3.3.2 Transferring from methadone maintenance treatment	17
Transferring from higher doses of methadone (>40mg)	19
3.4 Stabilisation	19
3.4.1 Regular patient review	20
3.4.2 Changes in buprenorphine dose	21
3.5 Maintenance dosing	21
3.5.1 Dose levels	21
3.5.2 Frequency of dosing: alternate-day and three-times-a-week dosing regimes	22

3.6	Unsupervised doses	23
	Indications of stable drug use	24
	Risk assessment	25
3.7	Ancillary interventions	25
3.8	Continued high-risk drug use	25
3.9	Missed doses	26
3.10	Cessation of buprenorphine maintenance treatment	27
	Nature of withdrawal from buprenorphine maintenance treatment	27
	Voluntary withdrawal from buprenorphine maintenance treatment	27
	Supportive care	28
	Involuntary withdrawal	29
	Commencing naltrexone following buprenorphine maintenance treatment	29
	Transferring to methadone	30
Section 4	Guidelines for the management of heroin withdrawal	31
4.1	Heroin withdrawal in context	31
	Heroin withdrawal defined	31
	Objectives of withdrawal services	31
4.2	Non-pharmacological aspects in the management of heroin withdrawal	32
	Treatment selection	33
	The optimal setting for withdrawal	34
	Getting organised for withdrawal	34
	Supportive care	35
	Monitoring	35
	Scales for assessing opioid withdrawal	36
4.3	Overview of buprenorphine in the management of heroin withdrawal	36
	Efficacy of buprenorphine compared to other withdrawal medication regimes	36
	Buprenorphine for the management of withdrawal in the medically ill	36
	The role of buprenorphine in withdrawal	36
	Preventing precipitated withdrawal on commencing buprenorphine	37
	Use of ancillary medications in conjunction with buprenorphine	37
	Continued use of heroin and other drugs	37
4.4	Buprenorphine regimens in outpatient withdrawal settings	38
4.5	Buprenorphine for heroin withdrawal in residential settings	39
4.6	Transition to post-withdrawal treatment	40
	Naltrexone treatment	40
	Which procedure is best?	41

Section 5	Complications or adverse events with buprenorphine treatment	43
5.1	Side Effects	43
5.2	Overdose	45
5.3	Intoxicated presentations	46
5.4	Incorrect dose administered	46
5.5	Diversion of buprenorphine	47
5.6	Investigations	48
5.7	Analgesia requirements for patients on buprenorphine	48
	Acute pain	48
	Chronic Pain	48
5.8	Pregnancy and lactation	49
	Substitution treatment during pregnancy	49
	Withdrawal during pregnancy	50
	The patient who becomes pregnant while on buprenorphine treatment	50
	The pregnant heroin user not in treatment	50
	Neonatal monitoring	50
	Breast-feeding	51
Section 6	Prescribing and dispensing buprenorphine	53
6.1	Prescribing requirements	53
6.2	Protocols for administering buprenorphine	53
	Procedures prior to dosing	53
	Administering buprenorphine	53
Appendix 1	Medications Metabolised by Cytochrome P450 3A4	55
Appendix 2	Consultancy and support mechanisms	56
Appendix 3	Scales for assessing opioid withdrawal	60
	The Subjective Opiate Withdrawal Scale (SOWS)	60
	Objective Opioid Withdrawal Scale (OOWS)	61
	The Short Opiate Withdrawal Scale (ShOWS)	62
	Clinical Opiate Withdrawal Scale	63
Appendix 4	Patient consent form for buprenorphine treatment during pregnancy / breastfeeding	65
Appendix 5	Further reading and references	66

